Sean,

It looks like the IRT meeting should end around 12 or 1 and Sabine Inc wants to meet at a nearby restaurant to multi-task lunch with the meeting on Cainhoy Plantation. Given that arrangement, we could probably get back to Atlanta by 6-7pm. We'd be looking at a ~12-13hr day but I'm good with coming back that night. What's your preference?

I just made my hotel reservation. I'll do my TA after you confirm the schedule. FYI - Today I'm traveling to Mississippi (for my other job), returning late tomorrow, flexing Friday. Call whenever if you need anything. Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP) Thanks!

Sean,

Sounds good. The IRT meeting generally starts at 10 though I haven't gotten a final agenda yet. It's about 3.5hr drive so I'll recommend we leave the office at around 6am to give us time for pitstops. I'm not sure sure how long the meeting will last and how long we'll be meeting about Cainhoy Plantation project afterward, so I did an overnight TA and booked a room at Fairfield Inn Columbia Northwest/Harbison. There must be some event in town because almost all the hotels were booked. I'd recommend you book one ASAP. If it turns out you can't find one, I'll cancel mine and we can just come back late.

Sounds great! I talked to Rosemary and Tony today. March 22 is blocked out on my calendar until I hear otherwise. Long days are fine by me, as well as overnight. Just keep me posted. As for minding the fort while you're gone, I think we're good to go with that as well, but I'll definitely need some handholding before you leave!
Thanks.

Sean,

I'm going on a long trip April 17-May 8. There was some discussion of you being a backup for the state of SC during that time if you're interested (and if you're still on detail?). If you are interested maybe we can meet and discuss some next week. At a glance the projects that might need attention: Interstate 73 (lots of impacts and congressional interest), Cainhoy Plantation (large impacts, mixed use development), various mitigation banks.

The plan is to give the Corps a heads up and finalize everything I can before I leave so you'd just be dealing with new projects that pop up. FYI the consultant for Cainhoy Plantation has asked me to meet with him after an IRT (mitigation banks) meeting in Columbia, SC on March 22 so this might be a good 2 for 1 trip for you to attend with me. It would be a loooooong day trip or an overnight depending on the IRT agenda and what travel we can get approved.

Rosemary: Don't approve his leave!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!! ;)

Suggestion. Maybe you want to have Sean Ireland shadow you on your projects up to the point you leave and he can be the backup.

Kelly: If you become a Bartender I'll come drink pints at your pub. Did you know Lee Thomas leads hiking trips in England?

Hey, I don't expect this will be much of an issue but I wanted to give a heads up just in case. I'm planning to backpack around the UK and Ireland for 3 weeks from April 17-May8. I plan to have any pending projects wrapped up beforehand and giving the Corps a heads up as well so they can let me know if anything large is in the pipeline. Other than that I figured it might just be asking that the Corps cc anything for me to either a backup project manager or to section chief to be distributed as you see fit? If you can think of anything else I can do ahead of time to make things smoother, let me know!

PS If I find a nice Irish pub with a job opening and a room upstairs I might never return but what are the chances, right?

Thanks,
